

Factual description is a formal piece of writing often used in writing biographies, describing objects, places, ideas or events. As the name suggests, a factual description is a systematic description of facts about a person, object, place or event. The writer describes the facts in detail covering various aspects of the person or the thing being described so as to enable the reader to get a comprehensive idea about the subject being described. A factual description is generally written in the form of paragraph.

Describing Places

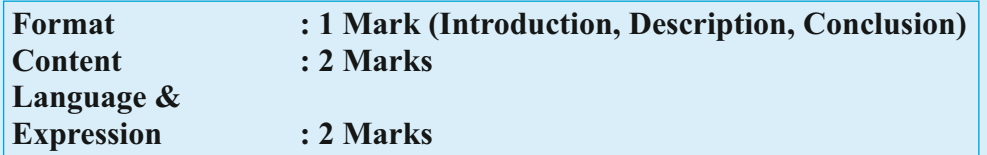

While describing places the following points are considered important.

- ⇒ Name of the place
- ⇒ Its location
- ⇒ Dimension/area
- ⇒ Surrounding
- ⇒ Detailed description in terms of structure, entrance, exit, boundary, walls, height, length, breadth, paintings, flooring, furnishing, ventilation, light, capacity etc.
- ⇒ Importance

Describing Places: Sample: My School Library

My school library is a well set-up library. It is a very big library on the ground floor of the school. It consists of several book stands and cabinets. Books are arranged according to categories in these book stands and cabinets. It has a wide range of books on diverse subjects, story books, comic books, subject books, reference books, journals, encyclopedia, biographies and magazines. At the entrance there is the librarian's desk. There are rows of tables and chairs in the center of the library for students to sit. Another section is the reference section of the library house for teachers. All the students visit library as per their classroom visit schedule. Library cards are to be carried while visiting library. Our librarian is very helpful in locating and selecting books as per our needs. We are allowed to borrow one book at a time and the records for the same are maintained by the librarian. We need to ensure that the books are not damaged by us and are returned on time.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

Describing Events

While describing events the following points are considered important.

- ⇒ Name of the event
- ⇒ Date, time, venue
- ⇒ Purpose/Theme
- ⇒ Organisers
- ⇒ Mode of entry or Conditions for entry
- ⇒ Chief guests/ participants/ people who conducted the event
- ⇒ Inauguration
- ⇒ What happened in the event
- ⇒ Prizes/awards/recognitions/honours
- ⇒ Audience's opinion about the event

Describing Events: Sample: The Earth Day

The Earth Day is an annual event celebrated on April 22. Worldwide, various events are held to demonstrate support for environmental protection. This year Earth Day was celebrated in my school with great pomp and show. The day began with the morning assembly where one student talked at length about the importance of celebrating this day. Another student recited a poem on the importance of saving natural resources. Our worthy Principal also addressed the students and shared her views on the importance of saving trees and forests. The day continued with some competitions such as Poem Recitation Competition, Poster Making Competition, and Essay Writing Competition etc. We also planted saplings in the school premises. The winners of various competitions were given attractive prizes and certificates. The event taught us about the importance of saving the blue planet in all its varied manifestations.

[illegible]

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

This image shows a full page of blank handwriting practice paper. It features approximately 20 evenly spaced horizontal lines across the entire page, providing a guide for letter height and placement. The lines are thin and light gray, set against a plain white background. There are no margins, text, or other markings present.